JOHN WYNNE TO BE TRIED NEXT WEEK

JUDGE DOLE OVERROULED VERDICT TO INDICTMENT—JOEL COHEN IS DISCHARGED.

In the United States District Court this morning a number of cases were called and set for trial, and other matters disposed of.

Joel C. Cohen, bankrupt, was before the Court on petition for discharge from bankruptcy. He was examined, and his petition granted.

Isabella Salamanca and Naecario J. Loiz, convicted of adultery, were up for sentence, but their case went over for one week, in order to allow the male defendant to close up some business matters, before going into retirement for a while on the reef, as he will doubtless have to do.

The case of Melvin M. Harmon, the president of the Mormon church at Laie, charged with subornation of perjury, went over until Monday when it will be set for trial. Neither the defendant nor his counsel was present, and the Court stated that the case would be set in any event on Monday.

The case of H. M. Ayres, for sending obscene literature through the mails, was set for trial for the 23rd. It could have come up next week, but the defendant's counsel was not ready.

Rose de Cotta, charged with bigamy on two counts, had her case set for next Tuesday. She is represented by T. M. Harrison as counsel.

John Wynne, for murder of Engineer McKinnon, of the S. S. Rosecrans, was up for plea. The Court overruled the demurrer to the indictment, entered some time since by his attorney, Frank Thompson. Exception to the ruling was noted, and a motion made to decide upon which count of the indictment they should elect to be tried. The motion was granted.

The case of Kiawa Mitchell, on an Edmunds Act charge, was set for trial for Monday.

The resignation of J. J. Dunne from the position of Assistant District Attorney, and the appointment of William T. Rawlins in his place was noted on the records of the court.

MONEY FOR HARBORS

Just contemplated for Honolulu harbor, and the contract calls for the work to be done within 20 months, requiring an expenditure of money of about $20,000 per month. The contracting company already has drilling screws about ready for work, since it will be necessary to loosen the coral by means of explosives.

The item of $40,000 for the light-house depot, for Honolulu is another item in which Honolulu is especially interested. As yet it is not determined upon the location for this, and probably will not be until after Congress has taken some action on the matter of utilizing Pearl harbor for a naval station. This, Capt. Otwell states, will in all probability be known at this session. If the naval station is to be moved, the idea is to utilize such part of the present station for the new light-house depot.

If not it is likely that a location will be chosen on some of the flats to be filled in on the other side of the harbor by the dredging of the channel.

The Lighthouse depot will be for the storage of supplies for the various lights, buoys, etc. to be maintained throughout the territory, and a wharf will be needed in connection with it for use of the new light-house tender which is now being built for this service.

The two lighthouses recommended are important and will be much more so in the future. Kilauea Point is the northernmost point on Kauai and will be a great safeguard to vessels to and from the Orient. This one is badly needed at the present time and it is more good luck than anything else that has prevented very serious disasters before now on that coast.

The one on Kurekahi Point is the first land raised by vessels approaching the islands from around the Horn, and from the Isthmus. It is a southern point on Hawaii, and a light there will be of much importance with the completion of the Panama Canal. Both of the lights just mentioned are of the first order variety.

WILD WEST SHOW GREAT SUCCESS

NOVEL ENTERTAINMENT PROVIDED FOR HONOLULU—TRAINED PONIES ONE OF THE FEATURES.

Despite the rainy weather yesterday afternoon many people were present at the first day's performance of the Wild West show. Long before the time set for the opening event the people began to arrive in the cars, automobiles and on horseback, and the scene inside of the grounds indeed presented a holiday appearance.

The championship roping of the world Angus McPhee was rather late arriving at the grounds, and when he first made his appearance it was a signal for three rousing cheers from the spectators. Everyone present in spite of the weather seemed to enjoy the fun, and even the wild horses and steers came in for their share of the sport.

Out of the fifteen cow boys who tried to rope the nimble steers, only six were able to do so within the time limit. The best time was made by Makai Kellilike who managed to tie his animal in 1:02. The only thing that spoiled the day's programme were the two accidents which happened at the beginning and the ending of the show. It was the potato race Charles Lucas, Jr., was rendered unconscious by his horse falling on him, and in the wild horse race Johnny Winter was thrown from his horse but not injured seriously.

The management of the show had provided everything possible for the care of any one being hurt. The Red Cross Corps of the National Guard, and the Board of Health ambulance in charge of D. P. Lawrence were on hand during the entire show, and were ready at any moment to render first aid to the injured.

The following is a list of the winners in each event.

Potato race won by a team captained by Sam Chillingworth. The riders were Eddie Holt, Davis and Kenhua.

Bronch busting race won by Makai Kellilike of Waimea.

Roping contest won by Makai Kellilike in 1:02 second W. Roy, time 1:10. Maverick branding contest won by Ika Purdy, second Kellilike, third Johnny Winters.

Wild horse race won by Kaluahine, second Kellilike. This race caused no end of fun as each rider was obliged to ride a horse that had never been ridden before, and the antics that the horses went through before the saddles were firmly secured was well worth watching. Winters got off well in the lead, his horse doing some bucking stunts that proved that Winters knew how to ride, but without any warning the horse slipped on the wet grass and Winters was pinned under his horse. Willing hands were promptly on the scene, and Winters was pulled out of his dangerous position, but it was soon found that he had suffered no serious injury. Before this accident Winters gave a very clever exhibition of lariat twirling, which brought forth a good deal of applause from all present.

The events this afternoon ought to be very interesting as McPhee will be in the roping contests which will be governed by the rules governing roping in Hawaii, and not under the rules that are used out west.

SUICIDE OR FOUL KILLING

ATTORNEY GENERAL RECEIVES
TRANSCRIPT OF CORONER'S JURY TESTIMONY AT HANA.

The Attorney General's department has received by this morning's mail a transcript of the testimony taken before a coroner's jury at Hana, Maui on the 28th of November, relative to a peculiar case of murder or suicide, and for which a young Jap named Higaki is now being held for killing a fourteen year old Japanese girl named Otero Harada.

The alleged murderer was found in a cane field lying besides the dead body of the girl, and himself almost dead from a slash tied around his neck. The other end of the slash was tied firmly to the right wrist of the girl, while slight marks about her neck indicated that she had been strangled. It was testified by physicians that the lungs were exhausted of air, as though the chest had been compressed also.

The Jap who recovered tells a tale of love and opposition, as the cause of the tragedy. He says that he and the girl had desired to be married for two years, but that her father had objected, and made this impossible. The night before the body was discovered, the girl had asked him to wait for her at the bath house, and when she had finished her bath, she had guided him to the cane field, and there urged him to die with her. He had demurred, but she had threatened to suicide alone, and then he agreed. His slash was then tied one end about either one's neck, and they agreed to each strangle the other by pulling on the slash. After telling him

CATARRHAL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS

Often Lead to Consumption by Stealthy and Gradual Degrees.

THE word catarrh designates an inflammatory condition of a mucous membrane. It usually results from catching cold.

While it is true that catarrh is generally confined to the nose and throat, yet it may affect any mucous membrane of the body.

Catarrh of the throat is liable to spread backwards and downwards through the bronchial tubes until it reaches the lungs, when it is apt to produce a condition of the lungs closely resembling consumption.

Indeed, some writers regard catarrhal inflammation of the lungs as consumption.

As soon as the catarrh reaches the lungs the appetite fails, the patient becomes weak and emaciated. In fact, the usual symptoms of consumption make their appearance, and yet the catarrhal element which has produced this condition is not always recognized.

There is only one way of relieving such cases, and that is to combat the catarrhal condition.

Peruna is an old and tried remedy for cases of catarrh, and is applicable to catarrh of the head, throat, lungs, or any other internal organ subject to catarrh.

Peruna is an internal systemic remedy, and influences catarrhal conditions wherever they are located in the human body.

Peruna has relieved a multitude of cases.

Each bottle of Peruna is accompanied by directions for use, and booklets written by Dr. Hartman can generally be obtained of the druggist, for the asking.

Any one having catarrh of the head, throat, lungs or stomach should not fail to give Peruna a trial. One trial is usually sufficient to convince. It rarely fails to produce immediate benefits.

Weak, Rundown and Paralyzed.

Mrs. Alice Bradley, Thorold, Ont., Can., writes:

"Two years ago I became weak and rundown, and as time passed I gradually failed until a year ago, when I experienced a stroke of paralysis, which affected one side and I was helpless."

"I called in professional medical treatment, but steadily grew weaker. I had decided I never would rise again from my bed, but when Peruna was brought to me and after having taken four bottles of it, I was able to be out and a wonder to myself and friends."

"I consider Peruna a great blessing to the afflicted. I may add that my daughter has also used Peruna and has been blessed with renewed health. I believe Peruna saved our lives."

Had Stomach Trouble—Is Now Well.

Mrs. Daniel Passmore, Welland, Ont., Can., writes:

"For three years I was severely afflicted with stomach trouble, and for

Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt, 74 Bessington street, St. Kilda, Melbourne, Victoria, member Presbyterian Church, writes:

"It gives me pleasure to recommend Peruna for catarrh of the lungs. It cured me after other things had failed."

"For years I had been sick with this trouble and was in a much rundown condition. My appetite was gone, I could not sleep at night, and consequently was very weak. My lungs were sore and I had a cough all the time. My friends were worried over my condition, and my physician did not do me any good."

"As a last resort I took the advice of a friend and bought a bottle of Peruna. It did wonders for me in a very short time. I have regained my strength and weight, and my lungs are in good condition. I am thankful to Peruna."

"The condition of my head and stomach was very annoying. I had coughed day and night for three months, as the result of a cold which I had contracted from sudden change of temperature."

"My brother advised me to try Peruna and I did so, for he was cured by Peruna. I took it regularly and improved steadily. I have now taken three bottles of it, and am completely cured."

Soon Improved on Peruna.

Miss Pearl Bousch, 3219 Franklin St., Richmond, Va., writes:

"When I was a baby I contracted catarrh, and was doctored by several good physicians, but none did me any good."

"My mother was taking Peruna at the time and gave some of it to me, and I soon began to improve and am now well and fat. I am twelve years old. The doctors told me I had consumption, but it was only catarrh."

Ask your druggist for a copy of our booklet "The Ills of Life," giving instructions covering the most effective use of Peruna. Peruna is for sale by all chemists and druggists. The following wholesale druggists will supply the retail trade in Honolulu, Hawaii: Benson, Smith & Co., Honolulu Drug Co. and Hobron Drug Co.

TROUBLE ON OIL TANKER

SOMETHING ROTTEN WITH S. S. SANTA MARIA'S VITALITY—UNDER INVESTIGATION ON COAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30.—There is an investigation pending for the officers of the Union Oil tank steamer Santa Maria, regarding its recent voyage from Honolulu to San Francisco, via Port Harford.

The investigation is to be relative to the condition of the boilers which made it necessary to put the fires out and make important repairs while at sea, as well as to the fire which took place on the Santa Maria's trip from Oahu to San Francisco, Nov. 25th.

The report of the latter incident is to the effect that one of the burners back fired and this ignited the oil floating in the fireroom bilges, but was extinguished after about an hour's fighting. The captain says that only minor damage was done.

While the inspectors do not regard this as a serious matter they will take it up while they are taking testimony relative to the state of affairs which is set forth in the following statement made by Second Assistant Engineer Wallace:

In regard to the dropping of the false crown on the steamer Santa Maria on November 17th at 9:30 a. m. I desire to say that I was not on watch at the time. In my opinion it was caused by the accumulation of salt and grease. The boilers filled with cold water and started leaking so badly that on Nov. 7th I found the forward standard boiler leaking very bad and the ship was stopped and the tubes rolled in all the boilers by myself and oiler on my watch. From then on we could get little, or I might say not sufficient, steam to run at full speed.

that that was their wedding night. Higaki says they began to pull and that is all he remembers. How the slash was fastened to the dead girl's wrist, he is not able to explain.
